Watch Dog Marks Time

Confidentially, Montgomery—that's the name of the pooch here—really can't look at a clock and tell you the time of day. He can tell you when it's time to eat, when it's time for the Boss to come home, whether it's time to go out or come in and when it's time to disappear to avoid a bath or medicine. But as far as knowing that 2 a.m., Sunday, Oct. 28, is the official time for turning back the clock from daylight saving to standard time in this area, Montgomery just doesn't.

What's more he thinks it would be pretty silly to wait up until 2 o'clock just to turn the clock back an hour. Left to his own device he would make the change before going to bed or wait until the next day. But Montgomery's sense of humor sometimes turns a pixie-ish turn and he just might rouse the family at 2:00, 4 or 6 o'clock Sunday morning, point the clock and then when his folks were tossing grumbling and finding it difficult to get back to sleep, he would happily and promptly resume his rest.

Ordinarily the clock people who send out these pictures concerning changing clocks from daylight to standard time employ some gorgeous gal model to pose. Well, using Montgomery is a change of pace and his fee is probably less.

Will Discuss Sewer Plans At Meeting Tuesday

A public meeting to discuss the proposed Mokena sewer system and sewage treatment plant is to be held in the Mokena grade school next Tuesday night, Oct. 30, at 8 o'clock.

Arrangements for the meeting were completed Tuesday night at a special session of the Mokena village board.

Discussion of the problem and questions concerning the proposed sewer system will be limited to residents of the village.

Robert Hamilton, a Joliet engineer who was hired by the village to make preliminary plans for the sewer system and treatment plant, has been asked to be present.

One of the items to be discussed is the possibility of obtaining a federal grant to meet a portion of the expense of building the treatment plant and a lift station.

The state sanitary water board is cracking down on communities lacking sanitary sewer systems and treatment plants particularly those in this area that drain into Hickory creek.

Joliet began construction of an east side trunk line sewer yesterday that is designed to end pollution of Hickory creek within its boundaries. Joliet has been promised by the state that pollution of Hickory creek by other communities will be halted.

This Thief Is A Skillful Bloke Gets Drive Shaft

Police see and hear so many strange things they very rarely exhibit surprise but when James J. Murphy, 16825 Forest View Drive, came into the Tinley Park police station Monday morning to report a theft, Chief Harold Moore sat up straight on the edge of his chair, his eyebrows lifted up and his mouth formed an excellent O.

Mr. Murphy reported that he had parked his car in front of his home Sunday night. When he came out Monday morning the car was standing in the same place. Murphy climbed in and turned on the ignition. The engine started all right but not the car. A check revealed that the drive shaft had disappeared. Murphy believes the theft occurred between 3 and 6 a.m. Monday.

The drive shaft, in case anyone doesn't know, is that long rod-like affair that transmits the power from the engine to the rear axle. Removal of same is generally looked upon as a major operation in automotive surgery.

It was quite foggy in Tinley Monday morning, so foggy in fact that it must have been difficult for the thief to have even found the car. How he managed to remove the drive shaft in the chill, wet dark indicates that police are up against a highly skilled and dextrous craftsman.

So if your car doesn't start some morning better look under the hood—this bloke may be picking up engines next.

Mokena Lions Will Launch Sale of Fruit Cake Tomorrow

The fruit cake sale sponsored by the Mokena Lions club will open tomorrow.

Those in charge of the sale describe the cakes as excellent.

The Mokena village water supply will be shut off this evening, beginning at 7 o'clock, to permit crews to repair leaks in the system.

The work is expected to be completed in a two-hour period if no complications are encountered, it was stated.

Householders are advised by village officials to draw off a sufficient supply of water to meet their needs for that period.

Mokena Puts New Inhalator Into Service

The inhalator purchased by the Mokena volunteer fire department was delivered this week and is scheduled to be put in service tonight.

The first crew that will be used to man the inhalator will be made up of six members of the department, James Marti, Stanley Williams, Kenneth Warning, Martin Medema, Robert Rust and Charles Kelch.

They will receive instruction in operating the apparatus tonight by J. A. Renaldi, head of the company that makes it.

7:30. A school to instruct department members in the use of the inhalator will be held at intervals thereafter until all men can operate it.

Someday the fire department may have an ambulance but for now the inhalator will be carried on the truck in responding to calls—the truck being used to assure right of way in traffic. However, the inhalator will be returned to the station in one of the cars of the crew. Two men are usually used in operating an inhalator.

The apparatus bought by the Mokena fire department is easy to transport as it only weighs about 35 pounds, including a tank of oxygen. It can be used three ways, to supply a person with oxygen only, to start the lungs functioning or to remove fluid from the lungs.

The device cost $430 and was paid for out of donations given to the department to set up an emergency unit. To date $343.45 has been contributed. Expenditure of $430 for the inhalator leaves $213.45. This will be spent on stretchers, blankets and first aid equipment. There is not sufficient money left in the fund to complete the purchase of the supplies needed, it was explained, so further donations will be accepted.

Many lives are saved annually thru the use of inhalators by fire and police crews, reports show. They are of particular importance in emergency treatment in heart cases or those in which a person finds difficulty in breathing.

were Eleanor Zimmerman, president; James McGuire, vice president; Louise Berg, secretary and Mary Jane Donaldson, treasurer. Freshmen also elected their representatives on the student council, Barbara Daugherty, Norvene Foster and Robert Munch.

The juniors will hold their election this week.

ARMY INVITES—

then taken on a conducted tour of the radar and launcher sites. From the earliest anti-aircraft units created in World War I, the organization has grown to the present day national defense system established in the past three years by the Army Anti-aircraft Command. The Command has built the most effective anti-aircraft defenses ever devised against attacking planes, a spokesman pointed out.

From the first crudely devised anti-aircraft weapons and hastily converted field pieces used in the first World War, the science of anti-aircraft has mushroomed into highly complex system of electronically guided missiles with a tremendous lethality race.

The importance of NIKE in the defense of our country is best explained by General Maxwell D. Taylor, Chief of Staff, U. S. Army, who said last April "The provision of anti-aircraft defense is one of the most important missions assigned to the Army."

Ten years ago, the Army gave thought to developing the world's first operational guided missile, NIKE 1, which by now has been effective against every type of drone, missile, and aircraft made available to its targets. Today, the NIKE emplaced around the critical points of our nation can operate effectively against any currently operational aircraft, regardless of height or speed. Behind this missile, the NIKE B, is coming along, which anticipates the capabilities of even higher performances of weapons in which the new evolves naturally from the experience gained from the old. Each new version uses a part of the equipment and sites of the preceding one, so that the family grows with maximum economy.

There are two units stationed at the Orland Park site, Headquarters Battery and B Battery of the 13th AAA Missile Bn.

Mokena Youngsters To Mark Halloween With Parade, Treats

Halloween will be celebrated and refreshments for youngsters. It is being sponsored by the Amvets auxiliary. The children are invited to meet on the public school grounds in costume. The parade will start at 7 p.m. and proceed to the VFW hall on Wolf rd.

There will be a bonfire on the VFW grounds, where weiners will be roasted. Candy bars also will be distributed to the youngsters and prizes will be awarded for best costumes.

Mrs. Celia Cooper is chairman of the parade committee.

The post office has issued a warning that damaging rural mail boxes and other mail facilities is a federal offense, punishable by a fine of $1,000 or imprisonment for three years. They hope it will not be necessary to take any action against teenage Halloween pranksters for interfering with mail receptacles.

Continues Jeffries Trial to Nov. 13 on Motion by Defense

On motion of Public Defender Thomas Vinson trial of Billie L. Jeffries, 26, of Lincoln Estates, Frankfort township, which was scheduled to begin next Monday has been put over until Nov. 13. Jeffries is under indictment for rape and indecent liberties with a child.

According to Will county State's Attorney Frank H. Masters Jr., Jeffries is alleged to have attacked a 5 year old girl early last month. Five days later, Sept. 13, he was apprehended by FBI agents at Pensacola, Florida.

Sheriff Roy Doerfler had asked the FBI to hunt for Jeffries on a charge of flight to avoid prosecution. This procedure, it was pointed out, gives the local law enforcement officials a powerful weapon. It has been employed successfully by Sheriff Doerfler on at least two occasions.

Change in the Jeffries trial date was ordered by Circuit Judge James V. Bartley.

SCRAP DRIVE TONIGHT

This is the night when the Mokena Lions club make their monthly drive for paper and scrap iron etc. Mokena residents are requested to tie the paper in bundles, place them at the curb by 7 o'clock and turn on the porch light.

The Lions recommend not placing the bundles at the curb much before 7 p.m., as sometimes they are picked up by other persons and in that way the Lions do not derive the benefit of getting the needed money which they use to pay the rent of the local library.

Brownie Investiture

Member of Brownie Troop 460 played hostesses to their mothers and younger brothers and sisters at a meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 16. The meeting was held on the grounds at the home of Mrs. Arthur Hansen on 143rd st. The beautiful Indian summer day, the very lovely setting on the edge of the autumn painted forest and the sincerity of the girls themselves blended together to form a very impressive service.

In a simple but significant candlelight ceremony, Susan Chodl and Peggy Troy were invested with their Brownie pins. Mrs. Sidney Feiwel and Mrs. Stanley Sterkowitz, the leaders of the troop, presented service stars to the other fourteen members and the troop committee's yearly report was presented. Cup cakes, pink lemonade and coffee crowned the festivities and then games on the rolling lawn sent everyone home in high spirits.

Warren G. Harding was the first president to ride to his inaugural in an automobile.

Noah's Ark was built ofopher wood.

Jamboree Committee

The committee organized for the purpose of producing the Girl Scout Jamboree at Tinley Park on Sunday Nov. 4th, met at the home of Mrs. Raymond Anderson, general chairman, Wednesday evening, October 17.

Each detail of the interesting event was discussed and the various committees reported favorable progress. The individual Brownie, Intermediate and Senior troops have been working on their items to be displayed on the program covers and on learning their parts for the play. There is a great deal of enthusiasm among the girls over the forthcoming Jamboree and they hope their parents and friends will make a large audience.

Legion Auxiliary

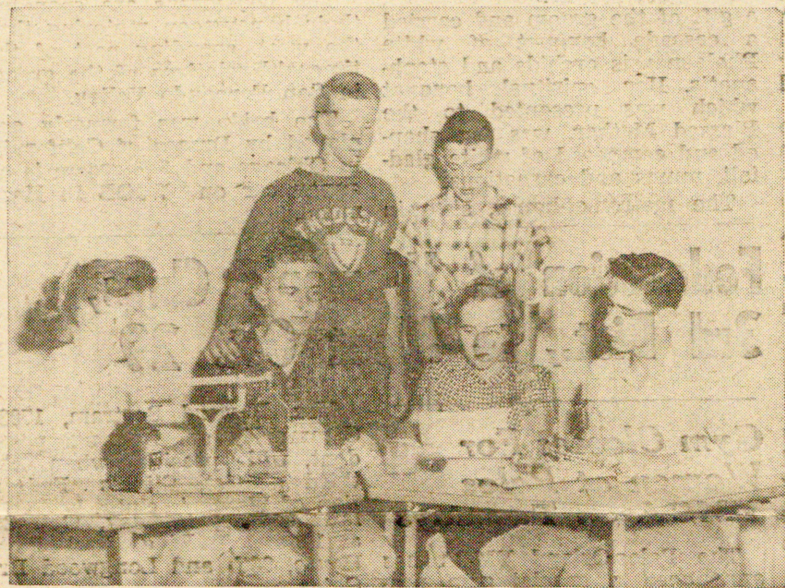

The American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 615, of Tinley Park, held its regular business meeting Friday evening, Oct. 12. Write Original 3-Act Play

Six members of the Phi-Chem Association at Lincoln-Way assigned to the task of writing a show to be produced by the group, have completed the job. The authors, left to right, are: (Standing) John Marcoux and Allan Mager; (Sitting) Jackie McGinnis, Thomas Dunham, Kathryn Cooper and Dennis Wheeler. The shows produced by the Phi-Chem society are intended to aid the students in developing practical applications of their classroom work and hence increase their knowledge of science. Many problems, such as stage construction, wiring, lighting, color balance and special chemical effects must be solved. The show just completed—it will be presented Nov. 15 and 17 in the school gymnasium—carries the title, "Junior's Chemistry Set." The next step is casting the piece and then rehearsals. H. Neil Hardy, a member of the L-W faculty and advisor of the group, will assist in making these arrangements. Junior and Senior students will sell the tickets. Proceeds will be used by the Phi-Chem Association to further their scientific activities. (Photo by H. Neil Hardy)

Sportabout

A big eastern newspaper that certainly should have had more honesty recently featured an article on the dangers of drowning while boating.

"Figures tell the story," the newspaper stated. It pointed out that during 1954 some 6,200 persons were known to have died from drowning. "Look at the death rate," the paper cried. "Boating must be made safer."

The paper's figures on drowning deaths was correct according to the U. S. bureau of vital statistics breakdown. The thing the paper didn't mention was that the total included such items as people who committed suicide by jumping off bridges, who fell asleep in bathtubs and one where a drunken man was knocked into a lake during a fight.

To attribute all these deaths to boating seems to stretch things a bit. We believe officials of the Outboard Boating Club of America, always staunchly story in the same light. We understand they jumped right across the editors. Now, we understand, things are straightened out as far as possible.

Complete statistics show that with 25-million people enjoying outboating today only 1,135 deaths in 1954 could be attributed to boating. From 1949 to 1954 the number of outboards in use increased from 2,643,000 to 3,740,000 yet the death rate per 1,000 motors decreased from .47 to .30.

In 1954 accidents in boating accounted for a death rate of 74,10th of one fatality per 100,000 population as compared with the 23.2 figure for motor vehicle accidents as prepared by the National Safety Council.

As the Midwest is today's hot spot for outboating these figures should hold some interest. They show that today's boating fans are more safety conscious than most drivers.

We hope boating will remain that way improve. As long as a single life is endangered safety steps must be taken. And they must be taken voluntarily. As matters stand today boating is an enjoyable sport. It won't be so for long if accidents occur at a rate that makes government interference necessary. Only the individual boating fan can keep the red tape from fouling up his personal propeller.

The Bremen Braves scored a double football victory last Friday. The frosh-sophomore team beat the Reavis frosh team 13-7, but the real thriller was the main event of the evening under the Reavis light in which the Bremen varsity finished on top of a 20-19 count.

The Braves kicked off and Reavis fumbled. The Braves recovered. Two plays later Bremen's George Stelmach romped across the goal line for the score. Art Bond added the extra point.

Gary Dubois who later suffered a slight injury, passed to Howard Kettler later in the period. Kettler made a nice catch and went on to pay dirt. The extra point was made and at the end of the first quarter the score was Braves 13, Reavis 0.

During the second quarter, Stelmach scored once again after Bremen made a series of first downs. Then Reavis went to work and equalled Bremen in the number of touchdowns, but could make but one extra point. Two would have tied and all three would have made Reavis the victor.

Bremen will play its last game of the season tomorrow on the home stadium. The Braves will be hosts to Rich high school, a conference foe. Game time is scheduled for 3:30 o'clock.

First Loss of Season For Oak Lawn Eleven; L-W Out of Cellar

By Denny Wheeler

Last Friday the Lincoln-Way Knights outran, outtackled and outthought the previously undefeated Oak Lawn Spartans and racked up their third victory of the season 20-7 before several hundred frantic pigskin fans.

It was a team triumph with no real star. The Knights licked the Chicago eleven man for man and hoisted themselves from the league cellar in the greatest race in the history of Southwest Suburban conference, there is only a margin of one and one-half games from first place to last.

Light First Half

Neither squad could gain an advantage in the first quarter. Both lines played good aggressive ball and the running backs were contained well.

But just before the half, Oak Lawn fullback Rogers broke loose from 7 yards out and hurtled into the end zone to put the Spartans ahead 7-0.

Lincoln-Way took the kickoff and began to move. With the ball on the Spartan 33 and one second to go, Ron Fredin drifted back and threw a short flat pass to Morrie Wade who twisted toward the goal line. However, he was swarmed under on the 12 yard line and the half ended here.

Knight Tie It Up

Whatever Coach Jonas Lashmet told the boys at halftime certainly paid off, for the Knights displayed a brand of football never before seen at Lincoln-Way.

They immediately stalled the Spartans who received the kickoff and took over on their own put the ball on the Spartan 45. From there Ron Sturnicki ramblod off tackle and raced the distance behind fine downfield blocking. Rich "The Toe" Bailey tied up the game with his conversion.

Once again the Oak Lawn attack was quickly curbed and the Red and Black ripped into action.

Fullback Herb Folkers smashed to a first down and then reeled off 9 more yards. Ron Studnicki almost broke loose but was tackled on the 16 yard line, after a gain of 15 yards. Ron Fredin sneaked 7 yards to the 9. Then Herb Folkers flattened three would-be tacklers and scored to put the Knights ahead 13-7. "The Toe" converted again.

The game was now in the last quarter and the Spartans, realizing that their ground game had been foiled, resorted to passes. A pass from center was fumbled and alert Lee Gear fell on the ball.

Les Gullicksen smashed off tackle to a first down. Herb Folkers rolled to another. Gullicksen churned 13 yards to another as Ron Fredin's faking had the Spartan line reeling. Then the scathack Studnicki smashed off tackle, broke into the clear, and outran the Oak Lawn secondary for a 43 yard touchdown. Bailey again kicked the extra point but it was nullified by a penalty. The second attempt from 25 yards failed, but the Knights led 20-7.

Three minutes later the game ended and the fans staged an unprecedented demonstration as the tired but happy players retired to the dressing room carrying Coach Lashmet aloft.

In three home encounters, the Knights are undefeated; untied. However, on the debit side, they are winless on the road.

The running backs, Gullicksen, Studnicki and Folkers turned in tremendous performances behind great line play. Jim Stauffenburg, Lee Gear, Red Wade, Woody Woodward, and Gene Haiman were outstanding.

Tomorrow, the Knights travel to Morris to play a night tilt against a fine squad. Then they return for Homecoming Day a week from Friday when they play powerful Reavis.

If the Knights repeat their performance of last Friday, they will be victorious in both of these remaining contests.

Choral Groups Play Big Part In School Life

How many times have you enjoyed singing with a group of your friends? Maybe the last you remember was with the old school gang at your last reunion or class day? Well, singing in school is still going on, but with a few modern refinements and improvements.

At the Bremen Community high school choral singing has become an important part of the curriculum. Miss Ruth Schmidt and Paul Scharfenberg are co-directors of the choral classes.

Six separate vocal groups provide the basis for classroom work. There are two sections of the advanced girls' chorus, an advanced mixed chorus, a freshman Girls' chorus, a Freshman Mixed chorus, and a Boys' chorus. Regular classroom meetings are held for each organization and grades are issued at the end of each six week grading period.

The aims of the group are many. Music theory, voice production, promptness, citizenship, acquaintance with the great composers, and the provision of a satisfying and worthwhile musical experience for as many students as possible are considered. Cooperation is as highly developed in the chorus as it is on the basketball court or the football field.

Much of the benefit of participating in the choral organizations for students comes with those appearances made before an audience of the general public, it was said. The annual Christmas concert, the spring concert, and the conference musical festival are a few of the events tentatively scheduled for the coming year.

Yes Sir and Ma'am It Has Been a Long Time Between Rains

The people of Chicago, enjoying the driest period on record for September and the first half of October. Total rainfall since Sept. 1 has been 0.47 inches. Only two other corresponding periods of record had rainfall less than one inch.

They were in 1891 when 0.63 inch fell and in 1939 when 0.97 inch was recorded. Normal rainfall for the period Sept. 1 thru Oct. 17 is 4.61 inches. This dry spell is quite a contrast to the Octobers of the past two years. In October 1955 rainfall amounted to 5.37 inches with 3.58 inches falling on the 5th and 6th. The flood month of Oct. 1954 marked up 12.06 inches which is the largest amount ever recorded for any month in Chicago. During the first 11 days of October 1954 which was the flood period 11.56 inches of rain was recorded.

The dozen Octobers preceding the wet ones of 1954-55 were rather pleasant from a rainfall standpoint. The average monthly amounts for the 12 year period was 1.63 inches. Amounts ranged from 0.59 inch in 1944 to 2.82 inches in 1946. However, if we go back one more year, to 1941, we find that October had 8.44 inches of rain. This points out the wide range in rainfall amounts that occur in October, actually from 0.13 in. in 1897 to 12.06 inch in 1954. By far a greater range than any other month.

So far this October we have had only 0.01 inch. To add to the pleasantness of this current dry spell have been some rather enjoyable temperatures with record breaking high readings of 84, 83 and 85 on October 12, 13 and 16.

Background Scripture: Psalm 23.
Devotional Reading: Ezekiel 34:11-16.

The Paths of God

Lesson for October 28, 1956

WITH a poem, the best thing to do is not to listen to a professor analyzing it. This may be of some help if the poem is an obscure one. But where the words are simple, you don't need a professor. What you need to do is to listen to someone read it who knows how to read and who loves poetry, or to read it aloud to yourself, for poetry is not intended for the eye but for the ear. Let the poem itself speak to you. If it is not too long, let it literally become a part of you.

Dr. Foreman

That is to say, commit it to memory, file it in your little grey cells so that you will always be able to find it. Millions of people have done just this with what is perhaps the most widely loved poem in the world, the 23rd Psalm.

God the Shepherd

No commentary can improve on it, and this column does not pretend to do anything but set down a footnote or two to an inspired masterpiece. The first footnote is on this picture of God as a Shepherd. One thing this brings out is the vast difference between God and ourselves. The shepherd can get along by himself; the sheep cannot. The sheep knows only what is just a few feet in front of him. He has a poor memory and very poor judgment. The Shepherd has to think ahead all the time. There are notions of religion that speak of God as the "man upstairs" and similar familiar expressions. There are notions about God that put him down on a sort of buddy-buddy basis with ourselves. How silly! Some people even think that if they just pray hard enough, that is, if they want something enough and keep nagging God long enough, he is bound to see it their way and let them have what they ask.

God Cares for Me

It has been found that one good way to read this Psalm is to read it aloud, emphasizing the personal pronouns. The Lord is my Shepherd; I shall not want. . . I shall fear no evil, for Thou art with me. . . Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me. . . Religion has to be in the first person singular or it isn't real. You can go all your life knowing this Shepherd Psalm by heart, and thinking what a lovely picture this is, of God the Shepherd of his people. But then one day you make the psalm your own, not in mind only but in heart—the Lord is MY Shepherd!—and then it simply comes alive. It helps, too, to remember the difference between a shepherd in David's time (and still, in that country) and a sheep-herder today. A farmer, in Kentucky for instance, who raises sheep just has them in a big pasture well-fenced in. He has to keep his eye on them, all right, but then he can go to town or do other things. In a big green pasture a sheep can't do itself too much damage. But in Palestine, with no big green pasture, only little narrow strips of green along creek beds in rocky ravines, with jackals and other animals always on the prowl on the wild unfenced hillsides; the shepherd simply has to be there protecting and guiding each sheep personally or they will be ruined. So God the Shepherd cares for me, individually; he protects me, fights for me, he does not intend that I should be lost.

The Paths of God

Some kinds of religion, even some kinds of the Christian religion, think of God as living in some sublime heaven, watching man as he toils along his low and winding trail. The picture in this beloved Psalm is quite different. The Shepherd travels with his sheep, from one pasture to another. When one stream or water hole dries up, the Shepherd knows where another is, and leads the flock there. So the Bible reveals to us a God who, hard as this may be to believe, actually shares our afflictions, is close beside us at every step. So the paths the flock of God follow are his paths, not because he laid them out but because they are the paths where he goes. They are not easy. The peace of God is not freedom from danger. The paths of God go by cliffs where falling rocks threaten; they lead to springs and streams that will die in summer's heat, they descend among the shadows of death, they are within sight of God's enemies and ours. But since they are God's paths, we walk secure, knowing His choice is always best.

Trustee Explains Operation Of Chicago Sanitary District

William F. Patterson, vice president of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, who is on the Republican ballot for reelection as trustee of the Sanitary District, explained the function of the world's largest sewage treatment system to the audience who attended the Republican rally in Tinley Park last week.

His talk was of special interest to residents of this area who will vote on a referendum as to whether they wish Tinley Park to be annexed to the District.

Patterson made it clear that the Sanitary District was willing and able to handle the sewage of suburban communities if they desired it, but that it was not a political issue and the trustees of the District had nothing to gain or lose by the annexation.

Mayor Jeffords, who was present at the rally, asked Patterson some leading questions so that authoritative answers could be given to those present on questions most frequently asked at meetings being held for the public in the Municipal building on Saturday mornings from 9:30 to 10:30.

Nine Trustees

The Chicago Sanitary District is governed by nine trustees who serve for six-year terms. Each year three trustees come up for reelection, so that there are always six experienced trustees on the board, Patterson explained.

Since 1950 Republicans have been in the majority on the Sanitary District board. During the last six years, Patterson said, the board has been able to reduce the tax levy for its operation and 46 square miles of new territory have been annexed. They have been able to do that, he explained, by improving the efficiency of operation.

At the present time, the system is serving not only Chicago, but 85 adjoining suburbs. In 1955, the American Society of Civil Engineers, named it one of the "Seven Wonders of American Engineering". It was built in 1890 when the population within its boundaries was approximately one million. At the present time it is serving an estimated population of 4,600,000. It has three major treatment plants with a combined capacity of one billion, three hundred million gallons of sewage per day, representing an investment of nearly $150,000,000.

The processed sewage produces 30,000 tons of fertilizer a year, the sale of which amounts to 2½ million dollars, which helps underwrite the cost to the taxpayer.

Patterson informed the audience that the Chicago Sanitary District could handle their sewage more economically than they could themselves.

In the majority of cases where communities have their own sewage disposal plants, it has been necessary after a few years, to enlarge them to take care of increase in population.

William Henry Harrison, died at the end of his first month as president, serving the shortest term on record.

Winter Driving Tips

You'll enjoy cold weather more if you plan now to handle winter driving situations. Here are tips I've found helpful:

Be sure your chains are in good shape. Use them when necessary. On packed snow, it takes 69 feet to stop without chains; with chains, 28 feet.

On glare ice, the figures are 169 feet and 63 feet. The difference could save a life. Letting air out of tires doesn't help on icy roads. It may shorten the braking distance slightly, but it adds to the hazard on curves and hastens tire wear.

To start on a slippery surface, use second gear and start slowly. This gives the car more traction and it will be less likely to slide sideways.

When making a curve on an icy road, turn the wheel slowly. If you go into a skid when braking the car, turn the steering wheel in the direction the rear wheels are sliding. Don't jam on the brakes harder, but pump them gently. This is particularly important if you have power-brakes.

With power-brakes and power-steering, you'll need a most careful touch on wintry roads. They make it easier to lock the brakes or over-steer. Never start, stop or change directions too suddenly.

If the car's engine steams, but the radiator feels cold, ice is blocking the circulation. Stop at once and pour water into the radiator until the ice is melted; don't try to melt it by driving further - you can damage the overheated engine.

Makes Report on Receipts, Expenses Of Homecoming

A report on the receipts and expenditures for the 1956 Mokena Homecoming has been compiled by Fred G. Lehmann.

Gross receipts were $7,464.25, including $491.75 from the dance given later to make up some of the loss in revenue due to the wind and rain storm that brought the affair to a sudden halt on its last day.

Total expenses were listed as $5,795.16, which left the net income at $1,669.09. The Community Park's share is $716.07. The remainder was divided among the Civic Association, the Lions club and the other organizations that participated. Sixteen groups had booths or concessions but three showed deficits, the PTA, the Civic Association and the sports concession of the Lions.

In event of a major attack on the United States, farmers and small town dwellers would be expected to take care of target city evacuees and aid in restoring the damaged area, according to the Federal Civil Defense Administration.

Carved in stone at Mount Rushmore in South Dakota are the faces of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Theodore Roosevelt and Abraham Lincoln.

Rayson For Improved Laws on Safety, Handicapped Children

Legislative needs for highway traffic safety and for mentally handicapped children were subjects of talks given by Leland H. Rayson, Democratic candidate for state senator for the 6th district recently.

On addressing the Home Owner's association at Ranch Manor, near Midlothian, he reported that some 2,200 people were killed in 1955 in automobile accidents and over 82,000 injured. Commenting that the death rate in Illinois is considerably higher than the national average, he said the schools in the state lag considerably in affording children classroom and practice driving instruction.

According to the National Safety Council, he reported state police activity for arrests, equipment, warnings and accident investigation for last year was the equivalent of 2.7 per man per week as compared to the 15th best state in the country which had an average of 14.5 per man per week. Also, that the state police patrolled some 229 miles per average police activity contacts compared to 40 miles per contact by the 15th best state in the country.

He feels the following were logical suggestions which could improve traffic safety.

1. To adopt a uniform vehicle code as has been done in other states.

2. Increase the state police to at least 813 and step up their enforcement activities.

3. Use accident records as a basis to assign men in areas where most accidents occur.

4. Enforce the traffic code and help defeat cynicism of offenders who think they can fix their way out of traffic tickets.

5. Introduce a prima facie speed law as a means to deter the speed of a dangerously fast driver on open highways.

6. Pass legislation requiring safety belts to be standard equipment on all new cars.

His talk at Reavis high school centered around the development of an educational program for the mentally handicapped.

Most of us, he said, are not aware that the law says that before any school district may provide facilities and receive state aid for "trainable" children, that district must first have facilities for the "educable" mentally handicapped children.

The trainable child, he explained, is one who is mentally retarded to an extent where he cannot develop his own ability independently to make his own decisions in life. The child needs supervision, but he does have the capacity to develop a capability for living satisfactorily in his own community.

He praised the work of our school superintendent for working toward a remedy of this problem. He feels the law must be changed to allow schools to have "trainable" facilities without the necessity of first having "educable" facilities.

"Eventually the day should come when we may look to progressive legislation which could set up centralized districts for these educational purposes. We are now on the way to making our constitution a reality to all of our children as required by making this an educational problem by law," he said.

Within two years, school districts and parents could save as much as $500 per child in transportation costs alone by having centralized special schools for handicapped children, Rayson informed the audience.

The candidate has been campaigning keenly on school problems, such as state aid, a revolving fund, State Board of Education, and the mentally, to be divorced from politics, handicapped school program.

Good Government Group Gives DSA To W. S. Nordburg

The Illinois Good Government Institute honored Trustee William S. Nordburg of the Metropolitan Sanitary District of Greater Chicago, with its "Distinguished Service Award" at a luncheon yesterday, Oct. 24 in the dining rooms of the Chicago Real Estate Board.

J. P. Holland, chairman of the institute, in making the presentation, said: "The Economy record of our Sanitary District has won national acclaim, but what is not too well known is that back in April 1947, Trustee Nordburg fought a "minority report" thru to adoption. It projected a program of reforms it was the genesis of the economy movement.

"The services of the district," Holland continued, "were increased and improved all along the line. Taxes were reduced, a most remarkable achievement, but what has brought greatest pride to all Chicagoland was the very recent acclaim by the American Society of Civil Engineers that our Metropolitan Sanitary District was 'The Seventh Wonder of the Engineering World.'"

The Illinois Good Government Institute, according to Holland, is recommending the re-election of Trustee Nordburg

Relax As Curtain Time Nears

The curtain goes up at 8 o'clock tonight on a bargain bill at the Haven school auditorium in New Lenox. Three one-act plays are to be presented by the Methodist Drama club of New Lenox. All rehearsals are over so the three directors shown above don't have a thing to do until tonight, except worry. And what better way is there to worry than with a cup of coffee in your hand? First worrier, the one on the left is Mrs. Ronald Crisman, who directed "Heat Lightning", a mystery while in the center is Mrs. Robert Brown, director of "Finders Keepers," a drama and on the right is the director of "A Woman's Privilege," Mrs. Bernarr Sheeler. Pretty soon now the plays will be history and the casts as well as the directors can really relax. Right now the butterflies are flying.

"The purpose of government is to serve, never to dominate. There has never been a better, clearer explanation of this principle than the one I have often quoted from Abraham Lincoln. 'The legitimate object of government,' he said, 'is to do for a community of people whatever they need to have but cannot do, at all, or cannot so well do, for themselves—in their separate and individual capacities. But in all that people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere.'"

Highlights Of Farm Life

By W. F. Whiteside
Cook Co. Asst. Farm Advisor

Records are so important in today's business. And that includes the farming business. For a number of years the University of Illinois College of Agriculture has printed a record book designed especially for the farmer. It was originally intended to permit the analysis of the business to find any areas where efficiency could be improved. It has served this purpose very well. The record has now been revised to permit calculation of social security payment, both for the self employed farmer and any employees of the farmer. The revised record allows for easy computation of income tax, either on the cash or accrual systems of filing. These are just a few of the important changes in the record book which makes it a very valuable tool in the hands of business minded farm folks who are interested in doing the best job possible in this era of the cost price squeeze. The record is available at my office in Tinley Park.

Sometime ago I mentioned program planning in this column. Careful preliminary planning is very important to the success of any organization. Locally, there are several examples of early planning, and ample evidence that these efforts have paid off handsomely in the past. The Tinley Hustlers 4H club already has all of next years' members enrolled. This enables the leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Siemsen to sit down with the officers and the program committee and arrange a good part of the coming years program. Setting a goal and charting a course to attain this goal brought to this club the honors of 4H club of the Year last year. Audrey Mascitti, Steger, president of the 4H Federation, has several committees planning the program for next year. From what I have seen it promises to be an exceptional program. Henry Veldhuizen, Glenwood, leader of the Glenwood Acres 4H club, writes that he has held a meeting of the parents of his members to discuss last year's program and to arrange for the coming year. Officers and the program committee are meeting soon to plan for the coming year. Many other clubs are in the process of arranging events for next year. I point this out to show the vigor and industry that is put into the 4H program by members, leaders and parents. I can't help but believe that training of this type will be beneficial to graduates of the 4H program as they take their place in community life. While speaking of 4H club work, do you have a boy or girl between 10 and 20 who would like to participate in this worthwhile organization for rural young people? If so, please get in touch with me.

You always lose when you try to beat the machine, the corn picking machine, that is. Here's why: A stalk of corn goes thru the snapping rolls at a speed of 7 feet per second. The simple reaction of letting go of the moving cornstalk takes 4 of a second. Three feet of stalk moves thru the rolls during this time. But wait, what's the first reaction when the grasped stalk suddenly starts to move? You grab tighter. This more than doubles the reaction time before you can let go. The margin is too small for the amount of risk involved. Stop the machine. You would not attempt to cross a busy four lane highway blindfolded. Why take a similar risk with your cornpicker. You just can't win.

Farmers and fertilizer distributors are giving more thought to fall applications of nitrogen. Doing the job then helps to distribute the work load and the storage problems of the dealer. To get full value from the fertilizer there are several points to consider, type of soil, vegetative cover, rainfall, and the method of application of the nitrogen. Of particular importance is to use a form of nitrogen that is not immediately water soluble. For further information, stop in at the Farm Bureau office in Tinley Park.

The USDA reports that seed producers may be able to reduce seed losses from shattering 75 to 90% if a new vacuum cleaner-agitator lives up to its promise. An experimental model attached to a combine picked up enough crimson clover seed, ordinarily lost, to increase returns $25 per acre. Similar savings should be realized with other seeds which shatter easily under ordinary harvesting methods.

Also reported by the USDA is the use of a chemical "Erbon" for controlling weeds in sugar beets. Experiments showed slight damage at rates above 6 pounds per acre. Surprisingly enough, this chemical is relatively inexpensive. Both these developments are still under study, so are not generally recommended at present. However if successful, they will be of great benefit to farm people.

Elective Subject

Homemaking classes are an elective subject which this year have been chosen by approximately half the girls at Sandburg. In order to meet the needs and interests of the girls six different courses are offered. Homemaking I and II are composite courses including art textiles, clothing construction, preparation and serving of simple meals, table setting, manners and child care units.

Homemaking III and IV are special interest courses planned with the students. Units will be in the area of clothing, interior decoration, house planning, money management, family relationships and crafts.

Family living is offered to boys and girls at the junior and senior level. This year a special course is being taught for senior girls who have had no preceding Homemaking. This group are now working on foreign cookery.

FHA WEEK

This is FHA week. Any pupil enrolled in the secondary school who is taking or has taken a homemaking course may become a member. The main goal is learning to live better today in order that the homemaking pupils' lives and those of their families may be better tomorrow. Members work on projects which contribute to better family living. They develop creative leadership through making it possible for every member to participate in committee and degree work.

The motto of the Future Homemakers expresses the purposes of the organization, "Toward New Horizons". Mrs. Lorna Neuneker is the sponsor for the Sandburg chapter.

The FHA is sponsoring a style show on Nov. 6 which will be open to the public.

Study Homemaking

Every American girl dreams of getting married someday, running her own home and raising children. That is why homemaking is such a vital part of every girl's life.

The home is the core of every family's activity and it is important that in the future, these girls will be able to make their homes as safe, comfortable and happy as their parents have tried to make for them—or even more so.

INSERT CUT
Mary Alfrevic, Myrla Winchell
The high schools now are teaching every phase of Home Economics to eager young girls. Natural skills are developed and new tricks of the trade are learned. Money management, finance, selecting, furnishing and utilizing a home are among the categories covered. Sewing, cooking, child care and human relations are stressed especially.

Homemaking is not taken or granted as much as it used to be. It is the greatest thing in a woman's life to keep a happy husband, a neat and charming home and to raise fine, good healthy children. It can't be measured in words how much any girl has learned from various homemaking experiences in school. It can help her to a richer, fuller, more rewarding life now, and in the future.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By
CHARLES F. CARPENTIER
Secretary of State

Now that the children have ended their vacations and returned to their schoolrooms every driver must be on the alert for school crossings.

In the majority of cases, school crossings are plainly marked by signs in the so-called "Caution Series." These are square signs with black lettering on a yellow background announcing "School," "School Cross Walk," or "Caution School Crossing." An alert driver is immediately aware of his responsibility to youngsters when approaching a school where such signs are posted. He should assume that responsibility by reducing his speed and being on the lookout for children.

In addition, some such crossings have traffic signals warning motorists of their approach to a school crossing. These are of the red-flasher type. Drivers of all vehicles must stop before entering a crosswalk or intersection and shall yield the right-of-way to pedestrians before proceeding when they come to a signal of this type. (Section 33, 1, Uniform Act Regulating Traffic.)

When warning signs or warning signals are posted announcing the approach to a school crossing there can be no excuse for a motorist to be in an "accident" involving a child.

A copy of the completely new "Rules of the Road" booklet will be sent to you free upon request. Write to CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State, Springfield, Illinois.

TODAY'S Meditation

The Upper Room
© THE UPPER ROOM, NASHVILLE, TENNESSEE

Not that which goeth into the mouth defileth a man; but that which cometh out of the mouth, this defileth a man. (Matthew 15:11.)

Endowed with resources for happiness—social position, good, and wealth—a husband and wife seemingly had everything to make life enjoyable and worth while. Yet the wife was oversensitive and jealous. Her attitude toward her husband provoked rude retorts on his part. They separated.

How much different life would have been if Christ had ruled in that husband and wife! For our evil temper and for our wrath we find effective remedy only in the gospel. The power of Christ can redeem us. Then we learn that His teachings never fail. With spiritual rebirth, Christ enables us to better our characters, overlook injuries and offenses, practice humility in our behavior, possess a hatred of sin.

Every person who accepts Christ as his personal Savior makes a distinct contribution to a better world.

PRAYER
Praised be Thou, O God, who gavest a new direction to my life through meditation upon Thy Word. Grant to me peace of mind and gentleness of spirit that I may do no injury in thought or deed to my fellow men, in the name of Jesus, who teaches and guides me in my life day by day. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
As a Christian, I am making a contribution to world order.
Tavares Franco (Brazil)

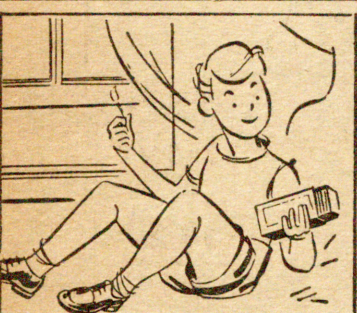

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

How spiritual understanding of God's goodness overcomes evil will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday, October 28.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment" will include the following selection from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (571:15): "At all times and under all circumstances, overcome evil with good. Know thyself, and God will supply the wisdom and the occasion for a victory over evil". Among the passages to be read from the King James Version of the Bible is the following (Isa. 35:10): "And the ransomed of the Lord shall return, and come to Zion with songs and everlasting joy upon their heads; they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away."

The Golden Text is from Lamentations (3:39,40): "Wherefore doth a living man complain, a man for the punishment of his sins? Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to the Lord."

Thoro Cleansing of Dairy Barn Good Insurance

Thoro cleaning and disinfecting of dairy barns before cows are brought into their winter quarters is valuable insurance for the dairy farmer. An inexpensive way to accomplish this is with a lye solution that will kill many dangerous disease germs, remove odors and leave the barn and milkhouse sweet-smelling and sanitary.

First, clean all surfaces and then scrub with a solution made with one can of lye to 10 gallons of water. Follow up with a spray of the same strength solution, forcing it into cracks and other inaccessible places. Rinse painted surfaces with clear water and allow to dry. Do not use wire brushes as stray wires might be picked up by the animals. Rinse containers, sprayer, brooms and brushes after using. Animals may be admitted to the premises one hour after treatment.

Lye has no odor to taint dairy products. Use it to clean and disinfect feed troughs, water tanks and similar equipment once or twice weekly by scrubbing with a solution of two rounded tablespoons of lye to a gallon of water. Allow to stand a few minutes, then rinse with clear water. Gutters, drains and sinkpipes can be kept free-flowing and sanitary by flushing every few days with a 10-quart bucket of hot water in which five tablespoons of lye have been dissolved. It will not injure concrete. When used on painted surfaces, rinse with clear water after a few minutes.

Lye solutions, costing less than two cents a gallon, are an inexpensive means of promoting farm sanitation. For a free 48-page booklet giving 100 money-saving tips on its use, one may write Pennsalt Chemicals, Dept. P, 3 Penn Center Plaza, Philadelphia 2, Pa.

Among the volunteers participating during the past year in Red Cross Blood Program activities were 4,000 physicians, 8,000 nurses, 1,000 technicians, and 86,000 other volunteers.

Mokena 24th In Retail Sales Among Suburbs

(Community News Service)
Palos Heights ranked 25th among south suburbs as a retail shopping center, just behind Mokena, according to figures on the 2½ per cent state sales tax collections for June released Monday by the state department of revenue. Previously the village rank was not determined in a list of local sales tax collections because it has enacted no such tax.

The state collection by 33 Palos Heights merchants was $4,586, compared to $5,271 collected by 40 Mokena merchants. In Orland Park, 46 merchants collected $6,390.

Two south suburban residential communities which also have no ½ percent local tax ranked near the bottom of the state collections.

Flossmoor's 28 merchants collected $2,753, which places the village between Alsip, with $2,773, and Robbins, with $2,714 and just ahead of Bridgeview, with $2,706.

Palos Park's 24 merchants collected $2,665, which puts its rank between Bridgeview and Glenwood, whose 27 merchants collected $1,756.

However, Lansing, which has no local tax, collected $23,506 through 164 merchants to place it between Summit, with $25,807 from 193 merchants, and Riverdale, with $21,658 from 133 retailers.

Largest south suburban shopping areas were Chicago Heights with $121,162 from 652 merchants; Harvey, with $85,375 from 411; Evergreen Park with $91,717 from 256; Blue Island, with $72,859 from 386; Oak Lawn, with $57,404 from 351, and Park Forest, with $39,801 from 94 merchants.

To make marching practice for the football games more interesting, the band was divided into five groups for a contest. Each group was in the charge of a band member who went to music camp this past summer. After two weeks of practice, each group had to demonstrate what it had learned. Frank Goetchel and Herman Lange were judges. The winning group led by Virgil Hammond drank milk shakes while the losing band members watched.

Dry Weather Increases Dust Fall In Chicago

Chicago's dustfall is on the upgrade again—largely because of the lack of rain.

An average of 56.1 tons of dust per square mile fell on the city in September, according to Samuel Radner, research chemical engineer at Armour Research Foundation of Illinois In-

This is considerably more than the 43.8 ton average for the corresponding period a year ago and the average of 40.5 tons for August of this year.

The most significant difference between September of this year and last year was the variation in rainfall, Radner pointed out.

Chicago had only .46 of an inch of rain in September, compared with 1.47 inches a year ago, he said.

Rainfall is an important fac-

The top dustfall was 149.3 tons, in the Loop; the lowest 32.8 tons in the 3300 block on Belle Plaine ave., on the north side.

Of course
she can get along without a dryer

..but why - when ELECTRIC dryers
cost so little, are fume-free, fast and thrifty!

Just 6¢ will dry
a big load electrically!

One of the wonderful things about having an electric dryer is that your clothes come out as fluffy and sweet-smelling as if you'd had them in the sun all day.

No musty basement odor. No fumes. Just clean, dry, radiant heat—like the sun gives.

All electric dryers are fully automatic (a good deal more dependable than the sun). Fast, too. You can dry a load of cottons in 25 to 30 minutes—and for only 6¢ worth of electricity!

You'll notice that all the "no vent" dryers are electric. Heat, lint and moisture just disappear down the drain. Your laundry area stays clean, dry and comfortable.

Why not see your electric appliance dealer?

 Public Service Company

Big Saving—ask your dealer about our Share-the-Cost Installation Plan. It's the low-cost way to get the modern 100-amp home wiring you need for today's electric living appliances. The Plan is available to qualified home owners on terms up to 2 years.

If you own an electric range, you save up to $25 on a new dryer! In fact if you have any 240-volt appliance your home probably has modern wiring already. So your complete, installed price on a new electric dryer will be less than any other kind.

Please phone Mrs. Eckel at Fieldbrook 9-0236 if you can provide transportation or be a sitter on election day. If you are able to be a group leader she will appreciate hearing from you.

Mrs. Mose Hegyi entertained the Nurses club Oct. 17. Members came from Lansing, Ind., Mrs. Hegyi's former home, and Park Forest. Their meetings are held once a month and they enjoy an evening of fun playing crazy bunco. This was their first meeting in the hostess' new home and she won first prize! Coffee and home made date nut cake were served.

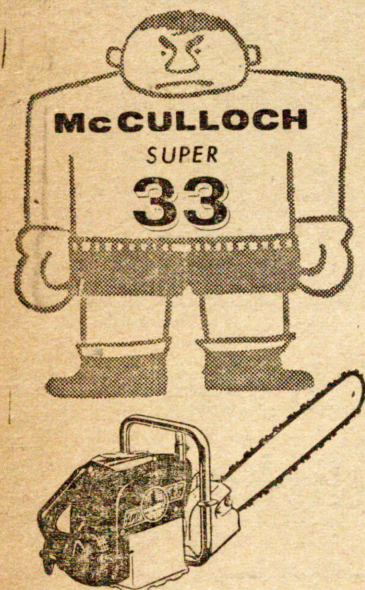

John Tabbert has sold his "Standard" filling station at 119th and Harlem ave. Mr. and Mrs. Tabbert plan to leave for Florida this month and then drive on to California later. A word of warning to those children who are playing on 135th st. while awaiting the first school bus, may prevent a serious accident.

It has been suggested that the teenagers who are skeet shooting in and around Laguna Woods do so under the supervision of an adult for the safety of the youngsters who, although having been threatened with punishment, are drawn to the scene like bees around honey.

Never before in history has anything built by man traveled so far in so short a time

—by land or sea!

An announcement of decisive importance to anyone about to buy a new automobile

The most exhaustive endurance test ever given an automobile has just been completed by two stock '57 Fords—identical in every respect with cars now being offered by Ford Dealers.

Under the supervision of the United States Auto Club and the Federation Internationale de Automobile, each of these two '57 Fords traveled 50,000 miles in less than 20 days. Ford No. 1 averaged 108.16 mph for the entire run... Ford No. 2, over 107 mph. These averages include time for all pit stops.

In all, the '57 Ford smashed 458 national and international records.

This test was run on the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah... it was the longest left turn in history.

A car, like a man, is known by its deeds, not words.

That is why, we at Ford, despite our confidence in our '57 cars, let their deeds of accomplishment speak for themselves.

Therefore, we engaged an independent engineering organization to test our '57 cars more thoroughly than any other cars have ever been tested before—in this country or abroad.

We provided them with '57 Fords—cars identical with those now offered by Ford Dealers. The rest we left up to them.

Here is what they did:

They took these cars to the Salt Flats at Bonneville, Utah.

Here, twelve of the world's greatest drivers took over.

In relays they drove these cars night and day for a distance greater than twice around the world... a distance equal to 5 years of normal driving.

Not in all history has a man-built machine traveled so far in so short a time—by land or sea!

But this was not a test of speed—but of endurance of the "Inner Ford." A trial to take the measure of Thunderbird Y-block V-8 power without qualification of any kind. A test of running gear—of brakes, of materials in body and chassis. Of steering and roadability, yes, and comfort, too!

A test, indeed, such as no other cars have ever undergone, let alone successfully concluded.

Surely they have told you, in decisive terms, that they are worth more when you buy... and when you sell!

Your Ford Dealer will gladly place at your disposal the new kind of Ford that means a new kind of value for your car-buying dollar—the greatest the world has ever seen.

More People Seek Religion, Says Writer

Is our religious revival a true one? That is a question a lot of people dispute. Since God alone can know motives and secret thoughts, He alone knows for sure whether a true religious revival is in progress.

Nevertheless we can make human judgements. My own opinion is that a slow, halting, but nevertheless tremendous movement away from materialism and secularism is taking place in our day.

People today want to know about religion. Nor is this interest emotional or sentimental. True, some people seem more interested in getting peace of mind than in serving God and keeping His commandments. Some even seem to make God their means to happiness, instead of seeing Him as the All-Powerful, One to whom they owe their every breath.

But most people are in search of religious truth. Experience indicates this; the wide interest in religious, theological and philosophical books indicates it, and many plays, movies, TV programs and the like, give evidence of it. People want to know what God wants them to do, what religion He wants them to belong to, because they know that this is the way to true happiness.

Then too there is the fact that the social and economic order has improved in our country in the direction of a Christian order. The dignity of the individual, his rights for a just wage and decent living conditions are almost universally recognized today. Such a transformation would have been impossible without the cooperation of men of good will; and men of good will must inevitably be drawn toward religion and God.

On the world scene, there is more and more appeal to religious principles, and to such concepts as the Natural Law—that is, the law of God as written in the nature of man. There is less and less of the deadly idea that the state can do no wrong; that a government, because it has power, may make its own laws; that might makes right.

My final evidence in this brief space must be personal. I have spent all my adult life dealing with the climate of opinion; and I am convinced that it has changed tremendously for the better since my youth.

American Cancer Society Allots Funds in State

To step up the cancer control program thruout the state, the American Cancer Society, Illinois division, has awarded grants totaling $363,862, Donald Klyczek, chairman of the South Suburban Chapter, has been informed.

First in a series of grants to be made from the funds raised in Illinois during the April, 1956 Cancer Crusade, the money will be used during the coming year by medical institutions and division chapters to assure the continuation and expansion of the American Cancer Society's programs of research, education and service to cancer patients.

South Suburban Chapter will receive $9,122, for its 1956-57 cancer control program. Of this amount $7,847.00 has been set aside to maintain the Information Center at 1207 Halsted St., Chicago Heights. The public education program, which gives the residents of this chapter the fullest information about cancer and how to combat it, will receive $675 as its share and the service program, which includes free dressings, the loan of sickroom equipment to patients at home, visiting nurse association calls and transportation services for driving cancer patients to and from the hospital for treatment, was given $600.

Klyczek said that $263,828 of the total amount of $363,862 was allocated to twenty-four chapters where Information Centers are located while 70 county chapters which do not have centers received $42,745 for their programs of education and service.

Eleven medical institutions thruout the state were awarded a total of $24,189, to assist in their operation. They are: Menonite hospital, Bloomington, $1,690; Methodist hospital, Peor-

In the Chicago area, nine other grants were made. The Visiting Nurse association of Chicago received $5,000. To the Museum of Science and Industry and Industry 70 per cent of the salary of a demonstrator for the cancer exhibit went $1,800. St. received $800 for the employment of a secretary in the tumor clinic. For the support of their home care plan, Michael Reese hospital received $3,500 and Mercy clinics received $5,000. Maurice P. Angland

A survey as of June 30, this year shows that 61,494 institutional investors now own about $550 million of mutual funds. This survey was made by the National Association of Investment Companies. Individual investors own about seven and one half billion dollars of Mutual Funds.

Almost all registered securities dealers and brokers sell mutual funds. There are about 120 of these funds registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission of the federal government. Some of these funds specialize in particular industries as, electronic, chemical, steel, paper, etc. while most do not limit themselves to any particular industry.

Any investment vehicle which has reached the point where there are about $8 billion invested deserves comment as to organization and method of operation.

Some years ago many wealthy individuals and institutions employed professional investment managers to supervise their investment accounts on a continuous basis. Only the wealthy could afford such service. Today the small investor with only a few hundred dollars can have assistance of professional investment management with research facilities which only the very largest financial institutions can afford.

The mutual fund, as a means of investing and as we know it today, has only been in existence since 1924. They have achieved their greatest popularity in the last ten years.

A Mutual Fund (i. e. an open-end investment company) is a publicly owned corporation which invests its funds in securities of other companies. One share of mutual fund stock may represent part ownership in a large number of other companies even tho that share may represent only a few dollars. In most instances, a mutual fund stands ready to sell new shares on demand and is always ready to buy back its shares at current net asset value.

Most recognized mutual funds are quoted every day in the metropolitan newspaper financial pages. The Wall Street Journal, of course, gives a rather complete list with daily quotations. Most banks will accept mutual fund shares, so quoted, as collateral value for loans since there is a ready liquidation market thru almost any investment house in the world. American Mutual Funds are now being sold in Europe in considerable volume.

Most mutual funds do not permit of more than 5 per cent of their funds in any one company and, by regulation, are not permitted to own more than 10 per cent of the voting stock of any one company.

This diversification has very obvious advantages in providing investment risk. Some of the mutual funds have an investment portfolio which includes as many as 120 separate companies.

It is almost axiomatic in investment circles that well selected common stocks will compensate for any depreciation in dollar purchasing power.

For many years, estates, trusts some institutions, etc. were, by law, forced to confine their investments to government bonds, savings accounts, and other dollar obligations. Laws of most states have now been changed to allow investments which more realistically compensate for changes in purchasing power of the dollar.

Mutual funds are now quite popular for estate and institutional investment as they are highly selective and only invest in those firms which rank high in the stability of the particular industry and their earnings.

Expect 1 956 CARE Food Crusade To Reach 20-Million People

Twenty million hungry people in nineteen "crisis-areas" throughout the free world will be reached by the 1956 CARE Food Crusade, it was announced today in Chicago by Mrs. Betty Ryan, Acting Director of the Midwest CARE Office.

The food will be delivered in 5,000,000 packages, containing an average of 22 pounds of rice, beans, cheese, milk powder, corn meal, and flour, turned over to CARE by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture out of America's farm and dairy bounty.

Package for each country vary according to the diets and needs of recipients, but each package provides enough vital supplementary nourishment for a family of four for one month! The non-profit overseas relief organization is asking Americans to contribute at the rate of $1 per package to cover costs of packing, shipping, and delivery in recipient countries.

Mrs. Ryan pointed out that, as in the past, the donor's name will be on each package, so that the recipient family will know who in America is extending this helping hand. She said, "We hope this person-to-person Christmas gift of needed food will be added to the Christmas lists of thousands of Midwest-ers again this year."

The packages will go to 19 countries in Europe, Asia, the Far and Middle East, and Latin America. In each of these countries, Mrs. Ryan added, CARE Mission Chiefs, in cooperation with local agencies, plan distributions that insure maximum benefit for the neediest persons, without regard to race or creed. Emphasis will be placed on reaching individual refugees families, the unemployed, widows and orphans, war invalids, and the aged and sick.

Contributions for Food Crusade package are being asked from private citizens, as well as from clubs, churches, schools, and businesses. One dollar sends one package; $100 sends a ton of food. One may send Food Crusade dollars to CARE, Chicago.

Gov. Stratton's Prompt Action Against Hodge Draws Praise

Gov. William G. Stratton won the respect and support of the large TV audience by his forthright discussion of the Hodge scandal at a hearing conducted by the U. S. senate banking and currency committee last week according to a report on the reactions to the telecast.

After spending several grueling hours testifying voluntarily before the committee, Governor Stratton was besieged by thousands of calls and messages from well wishers from throughout the Chicagoland area.

Described by TV and newspaper reporters as a "fighting and courageous governor", Stratton outlined in detail to the committee the rapid action he took to put the former state auditor in the state penitentiary.

Stratton told how he ordered a state police guard on the state auditor's records on July 6, demanded Hodge's resignation on July 10, accepted his resignation on the 16th, and how Hodge was sentenced to the state penitentiary on Aug. 20.

"Hodge was elected to public office by the people of Illinois and with the endorsement of the press of Chicago and elsewhere in Illinois" Stratton told the committee. "Until we had concrete evidence that he had embezzled state funds we had no authority on which we could either check his records or investigate his office."

"The state auditor is elected by the people of Illinois" Stratton said. "I am elected by the people. So are the other state officials. Each of us is elected to perform the duties of a particular office. None of us is empowered to concern ourselves with the affairs of any other office than our own."

"I knew Orville Hodge as a state official. I did not associate with him socially. When I found out that Hodge had betrayed the trust of the people of Illinois I took swift action in the interest of protecting the people and putting Hodge in jail where he belongs."

ois Police association convention at Peoria on "The Need for Civil Service in the Sheriff's Office."

Lohman pointed out he is convinced that steps can be taken under existing legislation to bring his county police and jail employees under civil service classification. He said he is preparing a proposal on this matter for the Cook county board of commissioners.

Lohman characterized the single most important problem in the field of law enforcement and correction as "the persistent and continuing influence of partisan political control."

He went on to say, "Law enforcement and jail administration which are worthy of the name require a high order of technical capacity and personal dedication. Tenure and adequate salaries are a must if our law enforcement agencies and our jails are to meet their public responsibilities."

Lohman told the assembled group of 700 persons that law enforcement and jail administration at the county level have "for too long remained a forgotten and neglected area." He said, "In most communities sheriff's personnel give law breakers their first experience with the law. For this reason it is of the utmost importance that the integrity of law enforcement as a whole be insured ed by a high quality of personnel."

The sheriff completed his talk by saying, "Criminal investigation, highway patrol, and jail administration duties cannot be discharged without trained, experienced and generally competent personnel. In short, law enforcement is a profession and must be regarded as such by

Children Overseas To Benefit From Hallowe'en Collection

It's Magic! Magic that will be performed by wide-eyed trusting Tinley Methodist youngsters who are depending on you to help them treat their cousins overseas with your treats for UNICEF, the United Nations Children's Fund

And it's magic for Tinley too! For when your doorbell rings next Wednesday, Oct. 31 and a youngster in Hallowe'en costume cries "Trick or Treat for UNICEF" Tinley residents can breathe easily in the knowledge that the Hallowe'en pranks of former years are no more. The Tinley Methodist Sunday school with Mrs. Harold Brown as primary superintendent is responsible for the magic. This endeavor has given their children a new outlook on Hallowe'en and transformed this day into one of wholesome treating to replace the old style tricking.

One trick remains, namely, the magical trick your coins perform. For the pennies, nickels and dimes dropped into UNICEF cartons which have been provided by Edward Suhs Jr. of the Blue Island Tinley Park Dairy will supply needed milk, essential drugs to control malaria in parts of the world bearing exotic names such as Burma, Afghanistan, Ecuador and the more familiar Greece, Italy India and many others. Countries like these, lacking the resources and skills to solve the basic health and welfare problems of their children, found it impossible to progress until organizations like UNICEF provided the necessary help.

You see each coin has two sides, the best kind of magic which helps those who give and those who receive.

The groups of children will be with an adult, they will be identified with tags and they will be working in their own neighborhoods. Parents permission slips must be returned before a child may participate.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service will serve the children hot cocoa and donuts before they begin their calls.

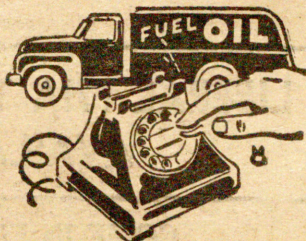

Lohman Urges Civil Services For Deputies

"As long as sheriff's departments are a pawn in the partisan political wars the quality of law enforcement and jail administration will continue to aid and comfort the criminal element rather than serve the community," Cook county Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman said Monday, Oct. 15.

1957 Dodge Lancer Hardtop Five Inches Lower

The 1957 swept-wing Dodge, lower and longer, will make its appearance in Tinley Park at the Bettenhausen Motor Sales show rooms next Tuesday, Oct. 30. The company claims the most exclusive styling and engineering improvement in history for the new Dodge. Height of the 2-door Lancer hardtop models like the Custom Royal Lancer shown above, has been reduced by five full inches so that the new Dodge stands barely four and a half feet high. Rear fenders sweep upward and backward to keynote the car's swept-wing styling, accenting a sport car appearance that is also a mark of the jet aircraft age.

Checks -Family Style- In New Pay Plan For Social Security

Some elderly couples will receive their social security benefits this month combined into a single family check, Cornelius R. Schafer, district manager of the Harvey social security office announced. Wives of retired workers who filed their claims within the last month or so will have their benefits amounts combined with their husband's old-age and survivors insurance benefits, if they are living at the same address, and are not entitled to old-age benefits based upon their own work records.

Up until now, Schafer said, retired workers and their wives have been paid their benefits each month in separate checks, altho in many cases, one of them would take both of the checks to the store or to the bank to be cashed. Being paid their monthly social security benefits in a single check will make the cashing of checks simpler for many of these couples, and if they have been paying fees to have their checks cashed, they will now have to pay only one fee instead of two. Schafer emphasized that the combination of the husband's and the wife's benefits into one check in no way affects the right of either individual to his or her benefit, nor the amount of that benefit. Both of them must sign their names on the back of the check before the check can be cashed.

The new method of payment, which is being instituted on a trial basis, is expected to cut the expenses of the government in issuing and mailing checks and to relieve congestion in post offices around the first of each month when social security and other Government checks are mailed out.

Since 1951, the Social Security administration has combined benefit payments to children living in the same household into a single check. This procedure, by reducing the number of checks, has resulted in considerable savings.

About a million and a quarter wives are entitled to benefits based upon their retired husbands' social security accounts. For the present, combined checks will be issued only as wives of retired workers file their claims for benefits and are put on the social security rolls, or in cases where payments to a husband and wife have been stopped for some reason, and are being started again. However, no combination of the social security benefits payable to a husband and wife will be made where they are not living together or where part of the wife's benefit amount is an old-age insurance benefit based upon her own record of work under social security. Separate checks will also continue to be issued where either the husband or the wife has been determined incompetent to handle funds.

Any Beneficiary who for any reason objects to having his or her benefit amount combined with that of a spouse will be paid by separate check, Schafer said. He or she need only notify the social security office.

Trick Or Treat Forays Can Be Dangerous

Children are expected to start their rounds of Halloween parties and "trick or treat" forays well in advance of Oct. 31. This makes the last half of the month a time for extra safety precautions both at home and while driving, warns the Chicago Motor club.

The club reminds motorists that in the excitement of their revelry children may dart across streets from between parked cars. But even if they remember their safety rules, masks hamper the vision of the little ghosts and goblins, making the season a time for special vigilance.

THE NEWS-BULLETIN
Thu., Oct. 25, 1956 Sec. 2 Pg. 13

At home, the club president, Charles M. Hayes advises, parents to make sure that children are properly dressed before leaving the house. School and community costume parties help to keep children off the streets on Halloween. The club urges civic groups to plan appropriate neighborhood events for their children.

But to be on the safe side, the club president pointed out, children leaving the house at night during the Halloween season should:

Wear something white.
Walk on left side of roadways in rural areas.

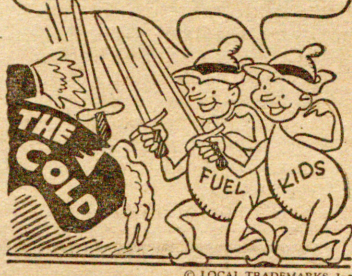

Avoid making quick moves into streets.

Make sure that masks don't restrict vision.

Cross at lighted intersections.

Junior Class At Sandburg To Present Comedy

"Mother is a Freshman," a three-act comedy by Raphael David Blau, has been chosen as the fall play at Carl Sandburg high school. The play will be presented on Nov. 16 by the dramatics club under the sponsorship of the Junior class. Miss Joanne Bahen will be the director; Mrs. Edward E. Klocke will assist.

This gay comedy is about an extremely attractive young mother who is forced to attend college with her daughter who regards her as a "has-been." The only way Abby can keep Susan in college is to take advantage of herself of an unusual but generous scholarship. Abby's first two names are Abigail

Fortitude and anyone with those names is eligible for a liberal memorial scholarship established years ago by a wealthy woman of the same name. Susan, her daughter, is against it and points out what a lonely old woman she'll be on campus— "like a left over chaperon."

Is Abby a left over? Just what happens to Abby? Well go to the play and find out.

Carbon Monoxide Season Is Just Around Corner

Carbon monoxide, the motorist's deadly enemy, is a sneaking killer that strikes more often in cold weather, warns the Chicago Motor Club.

Even small doses of the lethal gas are sufficient to slow drivers' reactions enough to cause accidents, says the Motor Club. One part of carbon monoxide in 700 parts of air can be fatal, and one part in 1,700 parts of air can cause nausea. Because carbon monoxide is colorless, odorless and tasteless, it cannot be detected by the senses.

But there are danger signals to warn the motorist. While you are in an automobile, any drowsiness, headache or nausea should be heeded as warnings. Other symptoms are delayed braking reaction, faulty coordination and poor vision. When any of these reactions are noted, all occupants should get out of the car immediately, walk and inhale deep breaths of fresh air.

Carbon monoxide is produced by imperfectly burned motor fuel, and usually consists of about 7 per cent of the exhaust gases. An excess may be produced by faulty engine adjustment, but even the best adjusted engine may leak enough carbon monoxide to be fatal. The chief danger points are faulty gaskets, defective exhaust systems and clogged tail pipes.

You may be overcome by carbon monoxide without warning. To reduce this danger, Chas. M. Hayes, president of the Motor Club recommends the following precautions:

Never run a motor in a closed garage or other unventilated enclosure.

Always keep a car window open to assure air circulation.

If you are sitting in a parked car for more than a minute or two, shut off the motor.

Check your engine for proper exhaust system for leaks and stop-combustion.

Check all points of the exhaust pipes.

If you back into a snow bank, make sure the exhaust pipe isn't clogged.

Get out of the car immediately at any of these danger signs: creased vision, slowed brake reaction, lizziness, headache, nausea, de- action, reduced coordination.
